Strength. Independence. Solutions.

A critical illness brings with it many worries, including unexpected bills. In addition to co-payments and deductibles, unexpected expenses mean higher bills when income is lower. Our Critical Illness insurance benefit can help ease worries with one, lump sum cash payment that can be used for anything, including bills not covered by other insurance. Because our Critical Illness benefit is a rider to a group life insurance product, if the critical illness benefits are not utilized, we will pay the insured's qualified beneficiary the death benefit.
